Acknowledgment

First of all, I am very pleased from our lord who is most gracious, merciful; created man and taught him speech. And who has given me the talent to write this special composition of grammar for my sweet learners. I would like to say huge thanks to my beloved parents for their unforgettable and everlasting help, helpful advices, encouragement, supervision throughout my educational life. Their struggle and support enabled me to complete my task successfully.

Eventually, I once again thank all preceptors, classmates, villagers, leaders, friends who have helped, directed, supported me.

I wish you all readers will take maximum advantages from this chapter and hoping that this small grammar will solve some of the fundamentals problems of you.

Sincerely Yours,

Eng Noorkhan Noori

Ordinary verbs: is a word which shows an action.

Ex

She is looking nice.

Linking or out of control verb or non-progressive verbs: is the verb that shows state of being and is not usually used in continuous tense without special cases.

Or are those verbs which connect subject with adjective or other parts of a sentence.

Ex

I like playing hockey.

She wants some water.

Adel looks nice.

The rose smells great.

It seems so good in the night time.

Auxiliary verbs are divided into three parts

- 1) Principal auxiliary verbs
- 2) Model auxiliary verbs
- 3) Semi modal auxiliary verbs

1 principal or primary auxiliary verbs are those verbs which mainly have two functions in a sentence.

- 1) As main verb
- 2) As auxiliary verb

Principal auxiliary verbs are generally divided into three categories.

- 1) To be verbs
- 2) To do verbs
- 3) To have verbs
