BOOK ORGANIZATION

The revised edition follows one consistent order in every lesson: Before You Read -> Reading -> Main

Idea & Key Details -> Lesson -> Exercises -> Vocabulary. Repeated filler text has been removed so each activity belongs to the lesson it follows.

HOW TO STUDY

- Read the passage twice - first for general meaning, then for details.
- Mark new vocabulary and use the surrounding sentence to understand it.
- Answer the exercises in complete English sentences.
- Retell the lesson in your own words and connect it to real life.

FIVE LEVELS

BOOK 1 - STARTER: Very simple stories and everyday vocabulary.

BOOK 2 - BASIC: Simple connected reading with useful life lessons.

BOOK 3 - ELEMENTARY: Longer stories with stronger vocabulary and comprehension.

BOOK 4 - INTERMEDIATE: Detailed reading with deeper ideas and reflection.

BOOK 5 - ADVANCED: Advanced but accessible reading with mature themes and independent thinking.

BOOK 1 - STARTER

Very simple stories and everyday vocabulary.

LEVEL GOALS

Build reading speed, vocabulary, comprehension, and confidence. Read every passage carefully and complete every activity in order.

READING ROUTINE

- Read the passage twice.
- Underline or note new words.
- Find the main idea and two supporting details.
- Answer questions in complete English sentences.
- Retell one lesson in your own words.

LEVEL MESSAGE

Do not worry if every word is not familiar. Good readers use context, reread important sentences, and keep going.

Confidence grows through practice.

Islamic lessons in this book are educational reading summaries. Detailed religious rulings should be checked with a qualified teacher or scholar.

LESSON 1 • A Good Morning

BOOK 1 - STARTER Reading

BEFORE YOU READ

Think about the title. What do you expect the story to teach? Read for the main idea and the important actions.

READING

Taha wakes up early. He opens the window and sees the morning light. He thanks Allah for another day. He washes, gets ready, and helps his family before he starts his work.

At breakfast, Rahman speaks politely. He does not waste food. He takes only what he needs. When he finishes, he cleans his place. His small actions make the morning calm and pleasant.

Wali then takes his book and sits at his desk. He reads slowly because he wants to understand every sentence. When he finds a new word, he writes it in his notebook. He believes that learning becomes easier when a person practices every day.

Before leaving, Ali checks his bag. He has his book, notebook, pencil, and water. He smiles and says that a good day begins with a good plan.

Explain the lesson in your own words. Then write one way Ahmad could apply the lesson in daily life.

MAIN IDEA & KEY DETAILS

A good day grows from small habits such as helping family, preparing carefully, and practicing regularly.

LESSON 2 • Taha and the Lost Book

BOOK 1 - STARTER Reading

BEFORE YOU READ

Think about the title. What do you expect the story to teach? Read for the main idea and the important actions.

READING

Rahman finds a book on a classroom chair. He looks around, but nobody is there. He does not put the book in his bag. He takes it to the teacher and explains where he found it.

Later, another student comes into the room. The student is looking for a book. The teacher asks about its cover. The student describes it, and Wali realizes that it is the same book.

The student thanks Ali. Umar says that returning something that belongs to another person is the right thing to do. The teacher praises both students for being honest and respectful.

That afternoon, Zaid remembers the lesson. A person may be tested when nobody is watching.

Good character means doing what is right even when there is no reward.

Explain the lesson in your own words. Then write one way Taha could apply the lesson in daily life.

MAIN IDEA & KEY DETAILS

Honesty means returning what belongs to someone else, even when nobody is watching.

LESSON 3 • The Helpful Neighbor

BOOK 1 - STARTER Reading

BEFORE YOU READ

Think about the title. What do you expect the story to teach? Read for the main idea and the important actions.

READING

One afternoon, Rahman sees an elderly neighbor carrying several bags. He walks over and asks if he can help. He carries the lighter bags and walks beside the neighbor to the door.

The neighbor thanks him. Wali smiles and says that helping others is a good habit. At home, he tells his family about the small act. His family reminds him that kindness does not need to be expensive or difficult.

The next day, Ali notices that the neighbor needs help again. This time, he helps organize a few things near the door. He learns that real kindness is not only a single action. It can become a regular habit.

Umar feels happy because he has made someone else's day easier. He understands that a strong community is built when people care about one another.

Explain the lesson in your own words. Then write one way Taha could apply the lesson in daily life.

MAIN IDEA & KEY DETAILS

Kindness becomes stronger when helping others turns into a regular habit.
